Dear Friends, Supporters, and Public Officials,

We respectfully ask you to take just a few moments to watch the heartfelt testimony in the video below. Before there were reports, investigations, motions, or court hearings, there was simply a woman who loved her pet pig. She came upon hard times and believed she was making the best decision possible by placing him in the care of an organization she trusted.

In this deeply emotional message, she shares the heartbreak of learning that Waddles was later found with severe sunburn while in shelter care and that euthanasia was considered before he was ultimately rescued. Her words are filled with grief, love, and the pain of believing she had failed the animal she cherished.

Watch her message with an open heart and consider her firsthand account as you review this video. Important evidence is not only found in documents, but can also be found in the voice that comes from the heart.
